Wets Recover Lost Ground In Lawrence and Scioto Counties Change Front

Scioto and Lawrence Decide
They Want Saloons.

FORMER MAJORITIES WIPED OUT

In Portsmouth the Business Men's League Backed Campaign and Openly Promises to Regulate the Liquor Traffic—Home Precincts of Judge Blair and George D. Selby, Both Ardent Anti-Saloonists, Return Heavy Liquor Majorities.

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 27.—By the overwhelming majority of 1,274, Scioto county, which three years ago went dry by 231, became wet again. Portsmouth was carried by the wets by 1,425, as against 141 in 1908. The dries won in only six of the 23 precincts. Eighteen out of the 25 county precincts gave a dry majority of 151 against 372 in 1908.

The home precincts of Judge A. Z. Blair and George D. Selby, vice president of the Anti-Saloon league, both regarded as dry strongholds, went wet by decisive majorities. The wets cast 1,109 more votes in the city than in 1908 and the dries 185 less.

The Business Men's league, which successfully backed the wet campaign, openly promises to keep its organization intact to regulate the liquor traffic.

The campaign has been spectacular, with Judge Blair and Rev. Billy Sunday taking an active part in all parts of the county.

Minor clashes were reported from some of the polling places, but no serious disorder marked the election. The wets celebrated their victory with a street parade.

Wheeler Still Hopeful.

Columbus, O., Oct. 27.—"The loss of these two counties will serve a good purpose in waking up other counties to the danger of being overconfident," said Wayne B. Wheeler, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league. "We do not believe that many of the present dry counties will vote wet. We feel that those that are organized and get out the vote will remain in the dry column."

Lawrence Also Wet.

Ironton, O., Oct. 27.—The Business Men's association won its fight against local option by a majority of about 425 in the county. Ironton gave the wets a majority of 825. A great jollification was held on the streets, but no ill feeling developed. Lawrence county voted dry three years ago by over 1,500 and Ironton dry by 67.

SUIT BROUGHT TO DISSOLVE STEEL TRUST

Government Starts Proceedings in Federal Court.

MANY INDIVIDUALS NAMED

Is Charged With Operating In Violation of Sherman Anti-Trust Law and Temporary Injunction Is Asked to Prevent Further Illegal Acts Pending Settlement of Case—Thirty-seven Corporations Enumerated in Papers Filed at Trenton, N. J.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 27.—In a suit filed in the United States circuit court here, the government asks for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiary companies. The petition charges that the steel corporation is an illegal combination in restraint of trade and, therefore, prohibited by the Sherman anti-trust law.

The defendants named in the bill include 37 corporations, five individuals sued as trustees, and 17 in their capacity as officers and directors of the steel corporation. Pending final hearing and determination of the case the government asked that a temporary restraining order be issued, enjoining the defendants severally and collectively from continuing the alleged illegal monopoly.

The petition in the case was brought to Trenton from Washington by H. E. Colton of the department of justice. Immediately after it was placed on file Judge William H. Lanning signed an order authorizing the service of subpoenas outside of the district of New Jersey. These subpoenas and copies of the bill of complaint were then placed in the hands of messengers designated by the United States marshal for delivery in the different districts in which the defendants reside or have their corporate existence.

The petition itself consists of 93 printed pages, in which there is set forth in considerable detail the conditions of the iron and steel trade prior and subsequent to the formation of the United States Steel corporation. It is charged that the illegal monopolies complained of have been brought about by a series of combinations and mergers in which the steel interests of the country were brought under one general control. Further than this, it is charged that by a series of interlocking directorates, the great business interests of the country, with the United States Steel corporation as the dominant factor, have been brought under one influence to crush out competitors, maintain prices and control the steel and other business of the United States.

Defendants Named.

The defendants named in the petition are: United States Steel corporation, Carnegie Steel company, Carnegie Company of New Jersey, Federal Steel company, National Steel company, American Steel and Wire company, H. C. Frick Coke company, Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, Great Western Mining company, West Missabe Land company, Ltd., Wright Land company, Ltd., Davis Land company, Ltd., Wells Land company, Ltd., Stone Land company, Ltd., Wabigon Iron company, Minosin Iron company, Nibiwa Iron company, Wenona Iron company, Leonard Iron and Mining company.

CHARLES JUSTICE
Man of Many Crimes
Electrocuted in the Penitentiary.

Murderer Justice Meets Death

Murderer Pleads Innocence
With Last Breath.

Columbus, O., Oct. 27.—Shortly after midnight this morning, Charles Justice, 43, murderer of a Greene county farmer, and believed to have killed two other men years ago, paid the death penalty in the electric chair at the Ohio penitentiary.

The condemned man's last words before the current was turned on were: "I am innocent of the crime that I am being killed for."

He was in a passive mood all day and refused to talk to anyone, although he did not appear to be worried about his approaching death. Two friends who called at the annex to see him were turned away by his request. He gave orders that he would see no one. His last meal was a chicken dinner and he seemed to enjoy it, though he made no comments.

The only persons present when the electric current was sent through his body were the warden, chaplain, physician and guards, and the sheriff of Greene county.

Justice was sentenced to be electrocuted on March 31, after he had been convicted of murdering John Shoup, a farmer, near Xenia, in April, 1910, who caught him stealing his chickens. He was relieved four times by Governor Harmon because of developments following his conviction and to permit his case to go through the courts and the pardon board, and up until the last moment he believed he again would get a stay.

A few days ago he attempted to escape from the death chamber by cutting through the walls. He was discovered before he had gained much headway.

It is said that Justice's criminal record covers 32 terms in various prisons in the United States and Canada. He has served three terms in the Ohio penitentiary for burglary, larceny and cutting to wound.

Cardinal Lays Cornerstone of College Hall Named For Himself

BROUGHT together by the desire to pay honor to Cardinal Gibbons, head of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States, the recent assemblage of archbishops, bishops and priests in Washington was one of the largest and most distinguished ever seen in America. The occasion was the laying of the cornerstone of the Gibbons Memorial Hall of the Catholic University of America, in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the entrance of Cardinal Gibbons into the priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the cardinalate. The picture shows Cardinal Gibbons, wearing his miter, presiding at the ceremonies of the laying of the stone. The west wing of the memorial hall has been completed, and the cornerstone occupies a place in the wall of the central tower. Thus far about $130,000 has been received for the fund for the building of the hall. A campaign to raise the rest of the $250,000 needed will be carried on this winter.

A FORCE OF CITIZENS COMPEL THE MAYOR RETRACT STATEMENT

Blames Drink For Crime Committed

Desperado Shot Down After Long Fight With Officers.

Gloversville, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Tracked by bloodhounds to Mountain Lake, a few miles north of here, Charles Edward Baker, alleged murderer of Norman Briggs, was shot down by members of a sheriff's posse and lies on a cot in a local hospital. After an all-night search, in which the desperado seriously wounded two of the pursuing party, Baker was surrounded on the Ashburn farm and, despite a desperate resistance, was brought down by a well-directed volley from officers. When cornered he affected the same desperado-like pose which he has maintained all through the chase, but it availed him nothing. Eight swordsmen exchanged shots with him and one of the number wounded him in the right leg.

In the hospital he was asked by Chief Manion regarding the slaying of Briggs, and he replied: "We were both drunk and quarreled, and I shot my man; that's all there is to it."

Breaks Neck by Fall.

Columbus, O., Oct. 27.—Blood on the collar of Robert Weserman, which spurted on his linen when he was beheading a chicken, was responsible for his being taken before Captain Dyer of the police force to explain what he knew concerning the death of a woman known as Mrs. English, 45, who was found dead by Waserman. She had fallen down a flight of stairs and broken her neck.

Fond du Lac Official Later
Jokes With President.

Milwaukee, Oct. 27.—President Taft was warmly greeted in seven Wisconsin towns, his reception here being a replica of that given to him in Kansas, the first insurgent state visited on this trip where hospitality was professed and every station platform and plaza was crowded. Especially did the town of Fond du Lac put its best foot forward to welcome the president. It was Mayor Wolff of Fond du Lac who, upon being told by Secretary Hilles that the program for the president's stay in that town would have to be curtailed in order to allow him more time in other Wisconsin towns, telegraphed the president to divide all his time between the other towns. A mass meeting of citizens was held after that move of Mayor Wolff and he was forced to apologize for his hasty words and to ask the president to spend whatever time he could spare in Fond du Lac.

Every citizen of Fond du Lac appeared to be on hand to welcome the president. They packed the courthouse square 10,000 strong to hear his speech. It is to be said for the mayor that he proved game and came down with his automobile to escort the president around the city. The president broke through the chilliness that at first existed in the mayor's automobile and before the parade was completed the mayor could be heard laughing loudly at the fun at his expense. He improved the situation by a humorous acknowledgment of his error.

From Altar to Hospital.

Tiffin, O., Oct. 27.—Mark Leister, former mayor of Tiffin, was married here and hastened to a Toledo hospital, where he submitted to an operation for appendicitis. His bride is Miss Alice Noble, an heiress. She accompanied him to the hospital.

WORLD'S SERIES COMES TO END

Athletics Keep Championship in Philadelphia.

NEW YORK PITCHERS WEAK

Were Unable to Stop Terrific Slugging Indulged in by American Leaguers—Ames, Wiltse and Marquard All Look Alike to Quaker City Boys—Each of 21 Players on Winning Team Pockets $3,654.39 as His Share of Receipts.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—The Philadelphia Athletics, by the overwhelming score of 13 to 2, crushed the New York Giants at Shibe park and thereby retained the world's baseball championship, which they won last year from the Chicago Cubs. The Giants were simply slaughtered. Before the game was half over their humiliation was a foregone conclusion.

The American league champions soon took the measure of Red Ames and assumed a commanding lead when they rolled up four runs in the fourth inning on two singles, a fielder's choice and rattle-headed errors by Ames and Murray. The Giants had scored a run in the first inning on Doyle's two-bagger and Murphy's muff. But this advantage was evened up in the third inning, when Lord sent Thomas home with a two-base hit. So that with the score 5 to 1 in their favor at the end of the fourth, Mack's men, with Big Chief Bender in magnificent form, appeared to be invincible. After the disastrous fourth Ames was benched by McGraw and George Wiltse was sent to the box. The Mackmen made another run off his curves in the sixth inning on Murphy's two-bagger and two successive outs, while in the seventh he was pulverized. Before Wiltse was relieved by Marquard, eight men faced him and six of them lined out smashing safe hits. These, coupled with an error by Mergle, netted five runs. Then Marquard was hit for another single and with two men on bases he allowed both to score on a fearfully wild pitch. Seven runs in all were chalked up in this round, making the score 13 to 1. It was the largest total score ever made in a world's championship game, and delighted the 20,485 Philadelphia rooters who saw the final struggle.

How Second Run Was Made.

The Giants scored their second run in the ninth inning, when Herzog got around on a single, an error by Oldring, a wild pitch and an out, whereupon the New Yorkers were good-naturedly joshed by the big crowd. Although the Giants had made a superb rally in New York, they seemed to have lost their ginger, and as the game proceeded their plight was a pitiful one. Yet when the game was over McGraw and several of his players ran over to the Athletics' bench and warmly congratulated Connie Mack and the champions.

This was the sixth game played for the title and the fourth victory of the Athletics. The paid attendance was 20,485. The gate receipts were $36,109, of which the national commission gets $3,610 and each club's share is $16,249.05. For the entire series the total paid attendance was 179,591, the gross receipts $342,463.50; the players' share, $127,910.61; the Athletics' share, 60 per cent of this, was $76,746.37, each member of the Athletics, 21 in all, receiving $3,654.39. The Giants' share was $51,164.24, each Giant, 21 in all, receiving $2,436.39. Each club owner's share was $90,158.75; national commission's rakeoff was $34,235.40.

The score:

Score by innings:
R. H. E.
N. York. 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—2 4 3
Phila. 0 0 1 4 0 1 7 0—13 13 5

SWALLOWED GRAIN OF CORN RUSHED TO THE HOSPITAL

WHERE RELIEF WAS OBTAINED

A grain of corn accidentally sucked into the windpipe of little Luella Dakin, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dakin, of Millwood, nearly caused the child's death Thursday before it was removed by a specialist in Columbus late Thursday night.

The little girl was on her way to school when a farmer passed along the street with a load of corn. "Give me an ear of corn!" shouted the child, and the farmer threw an ear toward her. She picked it up, placed a grain in her mouth and started to run down the street when she coughed, and the grain dropped far down into the trachea, almost suffocating the child.

She was taken home where one violent fit of coughing followed another, and the child fought for every breath. Her sufferings were intense, and a physician was quickly summoned, but found he could do nothing with the instruments at hand, and called Dr. R. M. Hughey, who made an examination and discovered that it would be necessary to take the child to a specialist in Columbus. Preparations were made and the child removed to Columbus on the 4:20 train. Arriving in Columbus the child was hurried to the office of a noted specialist where the grain of corn was located far down in one of the bronchial tubes and with the aid of special instruments was removed in short order.

Upon the removal of the grain the child quickly recovered and was brought back home Friday morning, in her usual good health, although somewhat nervous because of the experience she had passed through.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Relatives and friends here have received invitations for the marriage of Miss Louise McMullen to Mr. Frederick B. MacLean on Wednesday, November 18th, at Huntington, W. Va.

The young couple will be home after January 1st, in St. Louis.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. James McLean, of this city, and has many friends who will be interested to hear of his approaching nuptials.

For several years he has been promoting large business ventures all over the country and is at present making his home in St. Louis.

A very elaborate and beautiful affair of Thursday was a luncheon with which Mrs. Earl Barnett entertained in honor of Miss Edith Harsha.

There were eighteen luncheon guests and the arrangements were charmingly bridal, with a bride's table in white and green, at which were seated the bride-to-be and five intimate friends, Mrs. Hugh Hardin Hudson, of Gordonsville, Va., Mesdames Roy Young, Earl Cockerill, Clarence Baer, Miss Lina Willis.

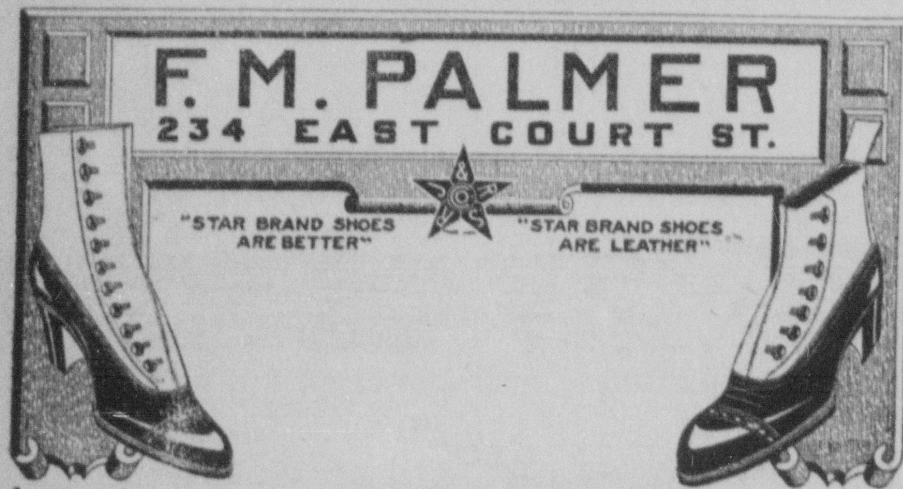

A large basket of white chrysanthemums, the handle tied with a big tulle bow, in the center, and two tiny gilt baskets with green bonbons, formed the effective table decorations.

ARE MICROBES IN YOUR SCALP? It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness.

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabourand, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the Sebium, which is the natural hair oil, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

We have a remedy which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize the hair roots, and overcome baldness, so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state. It will frequently help to restore gray and faded hair to its original color, providing loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by aiding in making every hair root, follicle, and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give Rexall "93" Hair Tonic a thorough trial and if not satisfied tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain it in Washington C. H. only at our store—The Rexall Store. Blackmer and Tanquary.

Negro Arrested On Murder Charge

Frank Baker, a Cedarville negro of bad reputation, has been arrested charged with the murder of George Tharr, the man who was found along the railroad track in Cedarville last Saturday night with his skull fractured where he had been struck with a club.

Baker admits being in an alley with Tharr Saturday night, but claims he did not rob and kill the man. He says that a third man, a white man whom he did not know, was in the alley also, and that he has not seen the man since.

The police are confident that they have the right man, as Baker told a story that conflicted very much, and was not able to account for his whereabouts during the time Tharr was murdered.

LUCKY OLD PEOPLE.

Have Seen Wonderful Progress From Ox-Carts to Aeroplanes.

What wonderful progress the old people of today have lived to see. In their young days the railroad was as much of a novelty as the aeroplane is now, and nearly everything else has progressed as much.

Another modern idea is that people may be active and vigorous at 75 or 80 years if they will be careful to keep up their strength.

Mr. Jno. N. Kelly, aged 75, who lives at Lake Charles, La., says he was badly run down from overwork, and took two or three bottles of Vinol by advice of his druggist. He is now better than for the past ten years and actually feels fifteen years younger.

There is certainly nothing like Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation, to build up and keep up all weakened, run down persons. It is especially good for old people too, because it is very pleasant to take and agrees with the stomach. There is no cod liver oil in Vinol. We guarantee it to give you perfect satisfaction. ## POPULAR HERO GONE

Death of Admiral Schley Recalls Santiago Victory.

Famed for Rescue of Greely Arctic Expedition and Later Prominent in Spanish-American War Naval Fight.

New York.—Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, retired, who dropped dead the other day in this city, was famed for the rescue of the Greely arctic expedition and was the popular hero of the famous naval battle of Santiago, July 3, 1898. Admiral Schley was born October 9, 1839, near Frederick City, Md. He was the son of John Thomas Schley, who served in the navy during the Mexican war. In 1856 Admiral Schley was appointed to the Naval academy at Annapolis, and completed his studies there in 1860. After his graduation from Annapolis he rose in the naval world step by step, winning promotion and honor by dint of meritorious service and bravery.

Although Winfield Scott Schley was famed for his bravery in rescuing the crew of the famous arctic expedition in 1884, he came most prominently before the world in the naval engagement of Santiago. It was for his work on this occasion that he became one of the popular naval heroes of the American people. The controversy which followed the battle, regarding who was the real hero, Sampson or Schley, was one of the most regrettable incidents that arose from the Spanish war. Schley, in his own humble way, answered the controversy most fairly by his famous comment, "There is glory enough for all."

It is an irony of history that, in the arguments which arose in lieu of the disagreement over the honors of Santiago, Schley should have been charged with cowardice. It was he who, in 1862, in the face of almost certain death, went out with a small boat and rescued a beleaguered ship from the fire of the Confederate guns; it was he who charged first over the redoubt at Corea and when his comrade fell dead at his side shot his slayer and vaulted over the embankment, leaving his men to follow him; it was Admiral Schley who braved the terrors of the arctic winter and brought back in safety the explorers who, entrapped by arctic ice for more than six months, nearly died from exposure and starvation.

Winfield Scott Schley was known among naval men as a dashing commander before the war with Spain. He had creditably disciplined Chinese and Korean coolies, protected the American consulate in San Salvador during a revolution and had behaved with gallantry and diplomacy when American sailors were assailed by a mob in Valparaiso. He was a typical naval man, a leader and a strategist, and he will go down in history as one of America's great naval heroes.

In recognition for his heroism in rescuing Greely congress rewarded him with a medal and the citizens of Maryland presented him with a handsome gold watch which he carried until the day of his death. President Arthur also rewarded Schley by making him chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting. He held this office until his resignation in 1889. In later years he was honored by being placed in command of the body of John Ericsson, the inventor of the Monitor, with the commission to bear it to Sweden for burial. His last commission was the New York, the flagship of the North Atlantic squadron. Since his retirement Admiral Schley led a quiet life. He had been at Lake George all summer and was on his way to his home in Washington when he was stricken.

Cripple Demands a New Leg.

New York.—Andrew Witzel of Manhasset appeared before the town board of North Hempstead and explained that unless a new wooden leg were given him he would be compelled to seek shelter from the superintendent of the poor. "Had it repaired twice," said Witzel, "and it won't stand more fixing. Want to work and will work if I get a leg, but can't get about on this stump."

College Bars Ragtime.

Macon, Ga.—Ragtime compositions found in the music room of Wesleyan college by Dr. Dingley Brown, director of the conservatory, were confiscated and the edict was sent forth that ragtime melodies no longer should be heard there. A member of the faculty lectured the young women on "the debasing and demoralizing effects of ragtime on musical morals and harmonic systems."

Jeffersonville Team Issues Challenge

The following challenge issued by the Jeffersonville ball team appeared in Thursday's Jeffersonville Citizen:

The manager of the Jeffersonville ball team has challenged the Washington C. H. ball team for a series of games for the championship of the county; two games to be played at Washington C. H. and one at Jeffersonville, each team to play their regular players they had during the season and games to be played on Saturdays. Jeffersonville and Washington have not played each other this season but Jeffersonville defeated the Washington team last season in three games defeating them 3 to 0 in the last game. ### He Got the Money; Also, His Breakfast

A fairly well dressed stranger, sober, who had entered this city in a "side door pullman", hailing from Columbus, stopped a man on the street Friday morning and asked for the price of a meal, stating that he had not eaten a bite all morning and was looking for work.

"Understand", said the man, "that I don't intend buying a drink with the money, for I am wanting something to eat". "I am now afraid of you buying a drink in Washington, pard, and here is the money" laughingly replied the man as he gave the fellow the price of a square meal.

FRESH AIR.

Open the doors and windows and allow the sunlight and the air to come in is the almost universal command and desire in these days.

The life-giving and life-sustaining air, laden with oxygen is no longer barred out of inhabited dwellings as though it carried with it disease and physical suffering.

Several generations ago people lived the healthful, open-air life with plenty of room under the doors and windows for the fresh air to get into the houses. At that time the open fire, usually only one in the house, furnished all the heat. The result was that the oxygen, the life giving part of the air, was not burned out of the air inside the house, and more pure fresh air was constantly finding its way in.

Then came the closer built, tighter houses, the weather strips, the furnaces, the universally heated house and people lived and slept in rooms, "as warm as summer time" with no crevice for the pure air to slip in.

Tuberculosis increased, and all sorts of lung and throat troubles multiplied. Catarrh became universal.

Then the people a few years ago woke up to the trouble and now we hear fresh air advocates on all sides.

Have plenty of fresh air in the living rooms, sleep with the windows up.

The children are taught in the schools the true secret of health, and the only problem now is how to get enough fresh air because we know that fresh air contains the oxygen. We know that it is oxygen which purifies the blood which renews the tissues and organs of the body. We know the importance of breathing plenty of oxygen laden air and thus keeping the blood pure.

When we lie down at night if we do not bar out nature's builder of wholesome blood, we will waken refreshed and with the wasted tissue renewed.

Pure air is now regarded as better than all artificial stimulants and if not a cure-all is a preventive of almost every ill.

This fresh air fad, as it was once termed, has grown into almost universal favor and few now believe that we can easily overdo the work of getting fresh air.

Regular Hours for Child's Study and Meals

By WELLS ANDREWS, M. D.

Constant nibbling of food between meals should be forbidden. It destroys the appetite, increases the saliva and interferes with stomach digestion.

Children should never be hurried off to school in the morning with an insufficient and rapidly eaten breakfast. Their appetites are often poor at this hour from the effects of an ill-ventilated sleeping apartment, and if they are kept at school for several hours without luncheon they are very ill prepared for mental work.

The greater number of children have a natural craving for sweets. The important role of sugars in furnishing energy in active childhood necessitates the consumption of a larger proportion of sugar than is required by adults. The craving of children for confections, candy and the like furnishes a true indication of the actual requirements of nature, and it must be admitted that a certain amount of wholesome candy, like plain molasses candy, not only does most children no harm but may serve them as an excellent food.

Simple forms of well-cooked bread and custard puddings should be furnished as dessert occasionally.

Tea and coffee should be withheld. They interfere with digestion and make the child nervous.

Too much water should not be allowed with meals, and what is given should not be iced.

Criticise Some of Our Modern Sports

By PAUL SIMS
Elgin, Ill.

The followers of sport today demand a spectacle equal to the blood flowing scenes of Nero's time. The recent Elgin races would compare with a gladiatorial contest such as the barbarous Roman emperor was pleased to conduct for the Roman rabble.

Instead of a reeking sword and a shield the gladiator of today drives a huge wheeled demon of destruction.

What is the reward of today? It is the same reward that gracious Nero was wont to bestow—honor and gold.

The stamp of disapproval is placed upon prize fighting and numerous laws are passed for its elimination, but in its stead we commend a sport that is more fatal and more brutal.

How quickly will the public condemn two physical giants who endeavor to massage one another's countenance in the most approved prize-ring style! Meanwhile this same and civilized public will permit, nay, encourage, the slaughter that seems to be a necessary adjunct to automobile races.

Every one is familiar with the situation of ancient history times, when assassination was a profession, but the game of today seems to be a suicidal contest, with a mixed reward of notoriety and dollars.

AUTUMN'S WASH.

She hangs her gold on the hickory trees,
Her red on the maples fine;
Her gums are crimson with all the leaves
Of all the elegant wines.
Her yellow aprons are on the bough
Of the sassafras in the glen,
And the oaks are brown with her blushes now
As she dances before all men.

Her collar of purple the sumach holds,
And the tupelo flashes the flame
Of so many garments her beauty holds
There's no use giving them name.

Full many a wind from the cold Northwest
Blows over them in the sun,
And there she stands with her naked breast
And her red lips bubbling fun.

Her garments are drying as best they can
On tree and grasses and vine;
And, oh, for the colors for eyes to scan,
And, oh, for the beauty divine!

Her wash-day brightens the solemn spell
That the fading summer left,
And how with her glory on hill and dell
Could the world be ever bereft!

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Brown's Drug Store.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Elam Harnish, known all through Alaska as "Burning Daylight," celebrates his 30th birthday with a friendly crowd of miners at the Circle City Tivoli. He is a general favorite, a hero and a pioneer in the new gold fields. The dance leads to heavy gambling, in which over $100,000 is staked. Harnish loses his money and his mine but wins the mail contract of the district.

CHAPTER II.—Burning Daylight starts on his trip to deliver the mail with dogs and sledges. He tells his friends that the big Yukon gold strike will soon be on, and he intends to be in it at the start. With Indian attendants and dogs he dips over the bank and down the frozen Yukon and in the gray light is gone.

CHAPTER III.—Harnish makes a sensation rapidly run across country with the mail, appears at the Tivoli and there is another characteristic celebration. He has made a record against cold and exhaustion and is now ready to join his friends in a dash to the new gold fields.

CHAPTER IV.—Harnish decides where the gold will be found in the up-river district and buys two tons of flour, which he declares will be worth its weight in gold before the season is over.

CHAPTER V.—When Daylight arrives with his heavy outfit of flour he finds the big flat desolate. A comrade discovers gold and Harnish reaps a rich harvest. He goes to Dawson, begins mining in corner lots and staking other miners and becomes the most prominent figure in the Klondike.

CHAPTER VI.—Harnish makes fortune after fortune. One lucky investment enables him to defeat a great combination of capitalists in a vast mining deal. He determines to return to civilization and gives a farewell celebration to his friends that is remembered as a kind of blaze of glory.

CHAPTER VII.—The papers are full of "The King of the Klondike," and Daylight is feted by the money magnates of the country. They take him into a big copper deal and the Alaskan pioneer finds himself amid the bewildering complications of high finance.

CHAPTER VIII.—Daylight is lured by the moneyed men and finds that he has been led to invest his eleven millions in a manipulated scheme. He goes to meet his disloyal business partners at their offices in New York City.

CHAPTER IX.

Nathaniel Letton was talking when the door opened; he ceased, and with his two companions gazed with controlled perturbation at Burning Daylight striding into the room. The free, swinging movements of the trail-traveler were unconsciously exaggerated in that stride of his. In truth, it seemed to him that he felt the trail beneath his feet.

"Howdy, gentlemen, howdy," he remarked, ignoring the unnatural calm with which they greeted his entrance. He shook hands with them in turn, striding from one to another and gripping their hands so heartily that Nathaniel Letton could not forbear to wince. Daylight flung himself into a massive chair and sprawled lazily, with an appearance of fatigue. The leather grip he had brought into the room he dropped carelessly beside him on the floor.

"I've sure been going some," he sighed. "We sure trimmed them beautifully. It was real slick. And the beauty of the play never dawned on me till the very end. It was pure and simple knock down and drag out. And the way they fell for it was amaz'n."

Letton made a dry sound in his throat. Dowsett sat quietly and waited, while Leon Guggenhammer struggled into articulation.

"You certainly have raised Cain," he said.

Daylight's black eyes flashed in a pleasant way.

"Didn't I, though!" he proclaimed, jubilantly. "And didn't we fool 'em! I was teetotally surprised. I never dreamed they would be that easy."

"And now," he went on, not permitting the pause to grow awkward, "we all might as well have an accounting. I'm pullin' West this afternoon on that blamed Twentieth Century." He tugged at his grip, got it open, and dipped into it with both his hands. "But don't forget, boys, when you-all want me to hornsoggle Wall Street another flutter, all you-all have to do is whisper the word. I'll sure be right there with the goods."

His hands emerged, clutching a great mass of stubs, check-books, and brokers' receipts. These he deposited in a heap on the big table, and dipping again, he fished out the stragglers and added them to the pile. He consulted a slip of paper, drawn from his coat pocket and read aloud:

"Ten million twenty-seven thousand and forty-two dollars and sixty-eight cents is my figurin' on my expense. Of course that-all's taken from the winnings before we-all get to figurin' on the whack-up. Where's your figures? It must a' been a mighty big clean-up."

The three men looked their bewilderment at one another. The man was a bigger fool than they had imagined, or else he was playing a game which they could not divine.

Nathaniel Letton moistened his lips and spoke up.

"It will take some hours yet, Mr. Harnish, before the full accounting can be made. Mr. Howison is at work upon it now. We—ah—as you say, it has been a gratifying clean-up. Suppose we have lunch together and talk it over. I'll have the clerks work through the noon hour so that you will have ample time to catch your train."

Dowsett and Guggenhammer manifested a relief that was almost obvious. The situation was clearing. It was disconcerting, under the circumstances, to be pent in the same room with this heavy-muscled, Indian-like man whom they had robbed. They remembered unpleasantly the many stories of his strength and recklessness. If Letton could only put him off long enough for them to escape into the polished world outside the office door, all would be well; and Daylight showed all the signs of being put off.

"I'm real glad to hear that," he said. "I don't want to miss that train, and you-all have done me proud, gentlemen, letting me in on this deal. I just do appreciate it without being able to express my feelings. But I am sure almighty curious, and I'd like terrible to know, Mr. Letton, what your figures of our winning is. Can you-all give me a rough estimate?"

Nathaniel Letton did not look appealingly at his two friends, but in the brief pause they felt that appeal pass out from him. Dowsett, of sterner mold than the others, began to divine that the Klondiker was playing. But the other two were still under the blandishment of his child-like innocence.

"It is extremely—er—difficult," Leon Guggenhammer began. "You see, Ward Valley has fluctuated so, er—"

"That no estimate can possibly be made in advance," Letton supplemented.

"Approximate it, approximate it," Daylight counselled, cheerfully. "It don't hurt if you-all are a million out one side or the other. The figures'll straighten that up. But I'm that curious I'm just itching all over. What d'ye say?"

"Why continue to play at cross purposes?" Dowsett demanded abruptly and coldly. "Let us have the explanation here and now. Mr. Harnish is laboring under a false impression, and he should be set straight."

By this time Letton was stiffened by the attitude Dowsett had taken, and his answer was prompt and definite.

"I fear you are under a misapprehension, Mr. Harnish. There are no winnings to be divided with you. Now don't get excited, I beg of you. I have but to press this button."

Far from excited, Daylight had all the seeming of being stunned. He looked at Dowsett and murmured:

"It was your deal, all right, and you-all dole them right, too. Well, I ain't kicking. I'm like the player in that poker game. It was your deal, and you-all had a right to do your best. And you done it—cleaned me out slick-er'n a whistle."

He gazed at the heap on the table with an air of stupefaction.

"And that-all ain't worth the paper it's written on. Gol dast it, you-all can sure deal 'em 'round when you get a chance. Oh, no, I ain't a-kicking. It was your deal, and you-all certainly done me, and a man ain't half a man that squeals on another man's deal. And now the hand is played out, and the cards are on the table, and the deal's over, but . . ."

His hand, dipping swiftly into his inside breast pocket, appeared with the big Colt's automatic.

"As I was saying, the old deal's finished. Now it's my deal, and I'm a-going to see if I can hold them four aces—"

"Take your hand away, you whited sepulchre!" he cried sharply.

Nathaniel Letton's hand, creeping toward the push-button on the desk, was abruptly arrested.

"Change cars," Daylight commanded. "Take that chair over there, you gangrene-livered skunk. Jump, or I'll make you leak till folks'll think your father was a water hydrant and your mother a sprinkling-cart. You-all move your chair alongside, Guggenhammer; and you-all Dowsett, sit right there, while I just irrelevantly explain the virtues of this here automatic. She's loaded for big game and she goes off eight times. She's a sure hummer when she gets started."

"Preliminary remarks being over, I now proceed to deal. Remember, I ain't making no remarks about your deal. You done your darndest, and it was all right. But this is my deal, and it's up to me to do my darndest. In the first place, you-all know me. I'm Burning Daylight—savvee? Ain't afraid of God, devil, death, nor destruction. Them's my four aces, and they sure copper your bets. Look at that there living skeleton. Letton, you're sure

"Now it's My Deal, and I'm Going to See if I Can Hold Them Four Aces." afraid to die. Your bones is all rattling together you're that scared. And look at that fat Jew there. This little weapon's sure put the fear of God in his heart. He's yellow as a sick persimmon. Dowsett, you're a cool one. You-all ain't batted an eye nor turned a hair. That's because you're green on arithmetic. And that makes you-all dead easy in this deal of mine. You're sitting there and adding two and two together, and you-all know I sure got you skinned. You know me, and that I ain't afraid of nothing. And you-all adds up all your money and knows you ain't a-going to die if you can help it."

"I'll see you hanged," was Dowsett's retort.

"Not by a damned sight. When the fun starts, you're the first I plug. I'll hang all right, but you-all won't live to see it. You-all die here and now while I'll die subject to the law's delay—savvee? Being dead, with grass growing out of your carcasses, you won't know when I hang, but I'll sure have the pleasure a long time of knowing you-all beat me to it."

"You surely won't kill us?" Letton asked in a queer, thin voice.

Daylight shook his head.

"It's sure too expensive. You-all ain't worth it. I'd sooner have my chips back. And I guess you-all'd sooner give my chips back than go to the dead-house."

Thinks He Saw Slayer

Indianapolis Police Get Clew to Latest Murder Mystery.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—That a man holding a handkerchief to his face as if to hide his features was seen to emerge from an alley in the rear of the apartment house in which Dr. Helen Knabe lived alone, at 2 o'clock last Tuesday morning, about the hour at which the physician met her death by a knife blow, is the newest lead that had developed in the police investigation.

This information was supplied by C. Carr, a barkeeper, who said that as he was going home and turned into the street at the side of Dr. Knabe's apartment he heard two faint screams, and as he approached the alley at the rear of the building a man with a handkerchief at his face came out, passed him and hurriedly disappeared around a street corner.

NEW HOLLAND IS NOW AROUSED

WET OR DRY

FIGHT AGAINST RETURN OF SALOONS

If Pickaway county goes wet at the coming election, the saloon will go back into New Holland unless that town holds an election and votes dry again.

This fact has aroused the residents of New Holland and the dries are working hard to keep Pickaway county in the dry column, and have had some noted anti-saloon workers to address public meetings during the past week in order to turn the tide in the right direction.

Conditions in New Holland are claimed to be greatly improved since the saloons were voted out of the village, and while it is hardly deemed possible for the town to go wet under a wet and dry election, yet there remains that degree of possibility which has caused the dry workers to get busy and stay busy.

The fight in Pickaway county is growing extremely bitter, and it is doubtful whether the county will again vote dry, as the people have become disgusted with the manner in which the blind tigers and bootleggers in general, together with gamblers and other law breakers, have openly plied their nefarious business.

However, the dries have commenced making an inroad upon conditions in that respect at the county seat, and if it goes dry once more the dries believe they can successfully drive the bootleggers out of the city of Circleville, notwithstanding the present officials of the city are blind to infractions of the law.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH FOR WASHINGTON

Some little time ago Archdeacon Thos. W. Cooke, of the Episcopal church of Dayton, visited our city with a view to ascertaining how many in this vicinity had been formerly connected with the Episcopal church or were inclined towards this denomination. Finding quite a little encouragement in the outlook Archdeacon Cooke has decided to make an attempt to establish an Episcopal mission here in connection with the Dayton church.

The first church service will be held Sunday morning, October 29th, in the parlors of the Imperial Hotel and will be conducted by Archdeacon Cooke.

Necessarily the mission is largely in the nature of an experiment until it can be learned whether there is interest and attendance sufficient to give encouragement for the hope of an Episcopal church at some future date.

About 25 years ago, perhaps longer, a similar attempt was made among the Episcopalians of Washington, but the mission was finally disbanded and no Episcopalian service has since been held.

OLDEST ESTABLISHED BUSINESS

ROCK MILLS STORE

SOLD TO R. C. TEFFT, OF THIS CITY

The Thomas H. DeWeese store at Rock Mills, probably the oldest established business in the county, has changed hands, R. C. Tefft of this city being the purchaser and taking charge immediately. Mr. W. W. DeWeese, son of the late Thomas H. DeWeese, has moved to this city and will take up other work.

The DeWeese store at Rock Mills is one of the old land-marks and when constructed Rock Mills was one of the most important points in the county because of the mill at that place.

Thomas DeWeese erected the building and opened a tailor shop and general store in 1849, and conducted the tailor shop in connection with the general store for a great many years. After he gave up the tailor trade, when custom made clothes made their appearance and become so popular, he still conducted the grocery, being assisted by his children.

Mr. DeWeese died in 1902 at the advanced age of 80 years, leaving a widow who is now 89 years of age. Mr. Wesley W. DeWeese assumed management of the store and conducted it until sold to Mr. Tefft a few days ago. The sale includes the stock of goods, the store, residence and a small tract of real estate upon which the store stands.

Mr. DeWeese is now moving to this city and will occupy a neat bungalow on South Main street, which is now nearing completion.

The DeWeese store has been visited by a great many people in this city while they were spending a day at Rock Mills, one of the most beautiful spots in Fayette county.

STARTS TODAY

BIG CHICAGO AUTO TOUR

Chicago, October 27.—The most important endurance test of the year from the standpoint of the automobile manufacturers started today when the Chicago Motor Club dispatched a fleet of cars on its fifth annual reliability contest, which is to follow a tour that winds through five different states—Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan, a distance of 1,328 miles, as laid out by John P. Dods, of the Official Automobile Blue Book.

The getaway was made at 8 o'clock Friday morning and the feature of the first day's run will be a stop at George Ade's farm, near Brook, Ind., which will be the noon control, the novelist having invited the motorists to eat a chicken dinner with him. Then the contestants move on to Indianapolis for the night, running to Louisville for a rest over Sunday. Leaving Monday morning, the night controls after that are Cincinnati, Columbus, Detroit, Grand Rapids and then back to Chicago. The complete itinerary of the tour is as follows:

CONTROLS.

October 27.—Noon, Brook, Ind., George Ade's farm, 94.1 miles; night, Indianapolis, Ind., Claypool Hotel, 220.7 miles.

October 28.—Noon, Bedford, Ind., Hatfield House, 102.2 miles; night, Louisville, Ky., The Selbach, 178.5 miles.

October 29.—Sunday, Louisville, Ky., The Phoenix, 116.4 miles; night, Cincinnati, O., The Sinton, 200.8 miles.

October 31.—Noon, Washington C. H., O., Cherry House, 97.4 miles; night, Columbus, O., The Southern Hotel, 171.7 miles.

November 1.—Noon, Toledo, O., The Secor, 131 miles; night, Detroit, Mich., The Pontchartrain, 189.5 miles.

November 2.—Noon, Lansing, Mich., Hotel Downey, 83.7 miles;

The White Tile Has Chickens to Burn.

Plenty of Chickens, young and old, alive or dressed.

Fresh Oysters in can or bulk.
WHITE TILE MEAT MARKET

night, Grand Rapids, Mich., The Pantlind, 150 miles.

November 3.—Noon, South Bend, Ind., The Oliver, 117.6 miles; night, Chicago, New Southern Hotel, 217.5 miles. Total 1,328.7 miles.

The rules that will govern the contest are of the most strenuous nature. Positively no work can be done on a car from start to finish without penalizations and even a motor stop means demerit. At the finish of the run there will be a technical examination and more penalties will be handed out for anything found broken or loose. Also the motor must be hitting on all cylinders, the brakes must work perfectly and also the clutch. Therefore, it will be seen that it is no easy task to make a perfect score. In fact the Chicago Motor Club's reliabilities always have been regarded as the hardest in the country to win.

The field that will contest in this strenuous affair is made up as follows:

TOURING CAR CLASS.

Edwards, George W. Gaidzik and George H. Meiser, will travel in a Haynes. A Midland will carry the chief checker, R. E. Green, while the Chicago newspaper men will make the trip in a National touring car, which will be driven by Donald Herr, winner of the Illinois cup in the recent national stock chassis road races at Elgin.

Ohio Plants Included in Plans of English Syndicate.

Pittsburg, Oct. 27.—Preliminary details by which a syndicate of English capitalists may acquire the independent telephone companies in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and part of Illinois, are being made, and it is expected that the deal will be closed at a meeting which will either be held here or in Wheeling, W. Va., Tuesday. If the deal is made it will mean the payment of $10,000,000 in cash and the issuance of $22,000,000 in bonds.

While local bondholders in this city refuse to discuss the matter until the deal has been finally closed, but they are greatly pleased with what has been accomplished. It is understood the English syndicate will make the new system superior to the old. It is said the purpose of the English capitalists will be to compete for long-distance business.

CABINET MEMBER OUT

Shen Hsuan Hual Accused of Starting Revolution.

Peking, Oct. 27.—Sheng Hsuan Hual, the minister of communications in the present cabinet, was dismissed and Tang Shao Yi, his predecessor in the same office, was reappointed. It was the railway nationalization policy of Sheng Hsuan Hual which in a large degree led to the present uprising in the south. A resolution was introduced in the national assembly demanding his impeachment and dismissal. Some of the radicals in the legislative body demanded that he be executed.

Mr. Fly Bathes

"I can't believe," remarked a citizen the other day, "all this talk about the injurious character of the fly. I don't believe it, because I haven't seen any specific proof given, though I believe they may carry poisons a short distance."

"The fact is, there are very few animals or insects that are not cleanly. Watch the flies and you frequently can see one stop and rub his legs together in a scratching manner; then he'll go over his body and wings in the same way."

"If any foreign matters that can be broken get into a beehive, the bees will at once go to work and carry it out, speck by speck, and leave the hive or the honey in an immaculate condition."

"You can frequently see dogs rubbing their paws over their noses, to get rid of dirt."

"The English sparrow that is so much abused, and properly, I think uses a nest for but one brood of birds. It will tear away the old nest and build another for a new brood."

"The hog, famed for his dirtiness, takes mud baths to clean his hide; and man has found that mud baths are good for skin affections."

"To sum it all up, people live a good deal like sheep, in their ways of thinking. Cleanliness is a good thing, and nothing will add to length of life any more than it. Now, let this cleanliness idea be adopted by mankind in regard to the person. The human body is constantly giving off dead matter; it requires a daily bath to get rid of it; how many take it?"

Took It Literally

He is a distinguished looking man and wears his hair a trifle long and as it is inclined to be waxy and is silvery white and quite thick it adds to his appearance. For a long time he has been going to one barber shop and his favorite is a man who has shaved him and cut his hair for years, but the barber is talkative.

The man was wrestling with a mental problem when he climbed into the chair and said "hair cut." Then he immediately fell into a reverie.

As usual the barber started his monolog and several times he broke into the thoughts of his customer. Finally losing patience while the knight of the razor and shears told a long, pointless story he said: "Cut it short, Bill."

Then he lapsed into another reverie. Finally the barber said, "All right, sir, the job is finished."

Then for a time the air in that particular barber shop turned blue, for the barber had followed instructions literally, and instead of just trimming the hair he had "cut it close" and the distinguished looking citizen had the appearance of a convict.

Then he went home and for several days his wife told inquiring friends he was sick, but he was just waiting for his hair to grow out a trifle so his friends wouldn't notice his changed appearance.

Found His "Wad"

Harry — is commonly known to the "boys" as a good fellow, and one who isn't apt to put up much of a kick if he spends all his life allows him in one night's revel o'er the green fields of forgetfulness with bubble-brimming Bacchus.

But one night last week Harry met some friends and enjoyed a revel, after which he took a cab for home. On the way home he attempted to invoice. His roll was gone; "He naturally thought he had been "fouched." He was sorry that any one posing as a friend was a thief, but he had his suspicions.

On preparing to retire his faith in friends in particular and mankind in general was restored when on removing a certain portion of his underclothing he found the missing greenbacks.

In his haste to get them into his trousers pocket he had tucked them inside his belt—and they dropped!

Married Young

An amusing incident happened some time ago in one of the Paris courts of justice. A vain, haughty woman was called as a witness, when the Magistrate inquired her age.

"Twenty-five last August," promptly replied the lady.

The next witness was a young man who at once acknowledged that he was twenty-seven years of age.

"Are you related to the last witness?" queried the Magistrate.

"Yes, I'm her son," he replied.

"Ah!" mused the Magistrate, "your mother must have married very young."

Magnifying Glass a Help

When you wish to copy patterns illustrated in magazines for Irish crochet or cross stitch cushion tops or mottoes, use the magnifying glass. The stitches may be very easily counted without straining the eyes.

To Clean Rugs

To clean rugs put them upside down on bed springs laid down out in the yard. Beat them thoroughly, then turn them over and sweep. This saves the dirt from the ground getting into the rugs.

Bee's Sting

The most practical and altogether effectual remedy for bee stings is to put ammonia on them immediately; this is a simple remedy, but the application of ammonia will give instant relief and prevent swelling.

A FEARFUL TASK.

"Good gracious! Look! What is it that is tossing that woman about from side to side in such a violent manner?"

"Possibly she is trying to hold her tongue."

Randall—"You say you've been making love every minute for three weeks. You look pretty well."

Rogers—"Yes, but you ought to see the girls."

Busy Week At Hodson Hospital

The Hodson Hospital has been full to overflowing this week, several major operations having given patients increased chances for life and health.

Mrs. Elmer Peele underwent an operation for chronic appendicitis, coming through it nicely and doing as well as could be expected.

The attending physician, Dr. E. F. Todhunter, brought Dr. Charles Hamilton down from Columbus for the operation. Dr. Peele, of Wilmington, a cousin of the patient, was also present.

Dr. G. S. Hodson operated on Mrs. Jake Hetzo, of Circleville, the operation being of a very complicated and serious nature. Mrs. Hetzo is doing remarkably well.

Mrs. H. H. Brown, who has recovered nicely from an operation of three weeks ago, was able to return to her home Thursday.

Mrs. E. Sanderson, of near New Martinsburg, also returned home Thursday after a two weeks' stay in the hospital.

EXPLOSIVE LETS GO TOO SOON WHILE BLOWING STUMPS AND BURT ATER IS INJURED

Another accident which nearly resulted in the death of Burt Ater, happened near Clarksburg, a few days ago, when Ater and his brother, Harry, were blasting stumps on their farm seven miles south-east of New Holland.

They had placed a charge under a stump and when the fuse was ignited, they ran away to a safe distance to await results. After waiting longer than usual for the explosion, it was concluded that the fuse had failed to burn.

Burt returned to make an examination. While he was bending over it the blast let go, throwing the stump high in the air, Burt, although of giant stature and Herculean strength, was thrown quite a distance backward, prostrate upon the ground.

Harry was awe stricken but rushed to the side of his brother.

Before reaching him, Burt had jumped to his feet but was blinded with the dirt that had struck him and the blood that was flowing from a terrible wound above the left eye.

He was rushed to the office of Dr. R. W. Morgan. It was found that the injury was not a serious one but required about an hour to cleanse and close the ragged edges.

The whole day depends on the Start—the best Start is a good cup of Coffee

We have discovered that there are five great divisions of Coffee Tastes and that there are five different blends of coffee which suit these five different tastes. We have, therefore, put up under the family name of Golden Sun Coffee the five great Blends named below. Go to your grocer and ask to see these five different packages and the Golden Sun Table of Tastes which will enable you to select the Blend and Flavor you like best. You may be surprised to find that the Blend which exactly suits your taste is 10 to 20 cents a pound lower than the price you have been paying.

Golden Sun Coffee is perfectly ripened, perfectly roasted, perfectly blended and put up in air-tight pound packets. Whole bean in packages—Steel cut in cans.

Your grocer—if he is experienced and anxious to give the best service—will tell you that coffee kept in open bins, or sold by irresponsible peddlers, fails in richness, purity and strength, gives much less than you pay for regardless of the price. Try this new and only correct way of ordering coffee by flavor—not price. It will more than repay you.

If you are in the habit of ordering your coffee ground, be sure and get Steel Cut Golden Sun in cans and have it properly cut—not ground.
